Cartels must be busted for prices to go down: CCP

By Our Staff Reporter

KARACHI: Competition Commission of Pakistan (CCP) Chairperson Rahat Kaunain Hassan on Friday said cartels must be busted with strict enforcement of competition law for prices to go down by 25-30 per cent.

In an advocacy session held at the Karachi Chamber of Commerce and Industry (KCCI), she said the commission had imposed penalties of around Rs70 billion for different violations of the Competition Act on various sectors since its inception in 2007.

She, however, deplored that the recovery remained paltry because most of the undertakings had challenged the CCP's orders in the higher courts. "The real effectiveness of the CCP's orders will be felt once the judicial review process is complete, particularly in the cartel cases that call for prioritisation for the harm it incurs to the economy," she added

However, she noted that without strict enforcement of the law, a competition culture cannot prevail. As an institution, the CCP is accountable for its mandate, but in pending cases, the review process has to take its course, she stressed.

Ms Hassan said that as against the general impression, the CCP is not a price regulator, but it only intervenes where the prices of goods and services are affected by anti-competitive practices such as abuse of dominance and cartelisation.

The main job of CCP is to make sure that markets are functioning in compliance with the competition rules and regulations. The CCP is not against businesses rather the Competition Law is pro-business and pro-growth.

KCCI members brought several issues and competition-related matters to the CCP's notice. The chairperson offered that the CCP can change its regulations to exempt the KCCI from charging a fee for filing formal complaints in endeavoring to address the concern in resolving competition issues.

She said that the informant reward scheme and leniency provisions are available which the business community can benefit from and help the CCP in identifying the anti-competitive issues.

Earlier, President KCCI Muhammad Idrees welcomed the CCP's decision of launching two draft studies in the small and medium enterprises and ecommerce sectors offering solid recommendations which would surely create a level playing field and highlight possible competition concerns in the e-commerce/online market.

She informed that the informant reward scheme and leniency provisions are available which the business community can benefit from and help the CCP in identifying the anti-comequal opportunities and a level playing field to the business and industrial community and the efforts being made by the Commission have led to not only improving the business climate to a certain extent but also ensured that public is saved from unlawful profiteering, counterfeiting and sub-standard products.

Appreciating some of the major actions taken by CCP, he particularly mentioned that CCP took notice of the unusual rise in prices of edible oil in 2020 and initiated inquiry against 110 edible oil companies that will help in stabilizing prices of this essential household product. Moreover, the honourable Sindh High Court recently ordered Pakistan Sugar Mills Association (PSMA) and 26 other producers to deposit 50 percent of respective penalties, for grant of interim relief and suspenmills in cartelization case.

"In the month of March 2022. CCP also imposed penalties of Rs1.1 billion on two home appliances companies who were involved in resale price maintenance (RPM) in connivance with dealers", President KCCI noted and added that all these steps and other notable actions taken by CCP contribute to promoting fair play in the business and industrial activities.

He said that it was also heartening to see that CCP has launched two draft studies in the Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) and E-commerce sectors offering solid recommendations which would surely create a level playing field and highlight possible competition concerns in the e-commerce/online market.

Fined for 'cartelisation': Sugar sector tops list of penalties imposed by CCP

CCP data says sugar and telecom sectors have been fined the most since 2007

BR Web Desk 18 Jun, 2022

The Competition Commission of Pakistan (CCP) has imposed a total penalty of Rs68 billion on different sectors in the last 15 years, data shows, with sugar industry being fined the most for alleged cartelisation.

The CCP, a quasi-judicial body, has the role of overseeing different sectors of the economy with an aim to prevent abuse of a dominant position in the market, certain types of anti-competitive agreements, and deceptive market practices. It also reviews mergers of undertakings that could result in a significant lessening of competition.

In its data, which covers the time period between 2007 and April 2022, it was revealed that it fined the sugar sector the most, followed by telecom and cement. The combined fines on all three sectors cover more than 90% of the total penalties imposed during the over 15-year period.

The sugar sector was slapped with Rs43.6 billion in fines, followed by telecom that faced Rs11.57 billion, and cement with Rs6.4 billion.

In a recent visit to the Karachi Chamber of Commerce and Industry (KCCI), CCP chairperson Rahat Kaunain Hassan said that the watchdog may have imposed the penalties, but recovery of the amount remains paltry as most have challenged the orders in higher courts where the due process of judicial review is under way.

The development raises questions on Pakistan's economy that faces inflationary pressures due to several factors, one of which Hassan says is the cartelisation of different industries in the country.

She said that as per the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), prices can go down 25-30% "if cartels are busted".

She said that the real effectiveness of the CCP's orders will be felt once the judicial review process is complete, particularly in cases that call for prioritisation for the harm it incurs to the economy.

The chairperson further said that as an institution, the CCP is accountable for its mandate but in pending cases the review process has to take its course.

Hassan said that CCP is not a price regulator but its job is to make sure that markets are functioning in compliance with the competition rules and regulations.

She further said that the CCP is not against businesses; rather the Competition Law is pro-business and progrowth, however, without strict enforcement of the law, a competition culture cannot prevail.

CCP to facilitate chambers of commerce against competition issues: Rahat Kaunain Hassan

KARACHI, Jun 17 (APP): Competition Commission of Pakistan Chairperson Ms. Rahat Kaunain Hassan offered to exempt chambers of commerce from the fee charges, while registering formal complaints against competition issues.

The offer by the CCP's chairperson was made at Karachi Chamber of Commerce and Industry, during her visit on Friday. She was accompanied by a team of his senior officers, according to the press release issued by KCCI. During the session, members of KCCI brought several issues and competition related matters to the CCP's notice.

KCCI leadership apprised the CCP team of different competition issues and sought its help in creating a level playing field, while removing entry barriers in the different sectors. KCCI President Muhammad Idrees, Vice President Qazi Zahid Hussain, KCCI Managing Committee members participated in the advocacy session.

However, CCP Chief Ms. Rahat Kaunain Hassan said that the competition had imposed penalties of up to Rs 70 billion for different violations of the Competition Act on various sectors.

However, Rahat Kaunain Hassan maintained the recovery remains paltry due to the fact that most of the undertakings had challenged the CCP's orders in the higher courts where the due process of judicial review is underway.

The real effectiveness of the CCP's orders would be felt once the judicial review process is complete, particularly in the cartel cases, that call for prioritization for the harm it incurs to the economy, she added. CCP Chairperson further said that as an institution, the CCP was accountable for its mandate, but in the pending cases the review process has to take its course.

Ms. Rahat Kaunain Hassan said that against the general impression, the CCP was not a price regulator, but it only intervenes where the prices of goods and services were affected by anti-competitive practices, such as abuse of dominance and cartelization.

The main job of CCP is to make sure that markets were functioning in compliance with the competition rules and regulations, she held. She informed that the informant reward scheme and leniency provisions were available which the business community can benefit from and help the CCP in identifying the anti-competitive issues. She assured the CCP's full support in resolving the competition issues and creating a level playing field.

Earlier, KCCI President Muhammad Idrees said that CCP undoubtedly played an important role in providing equal opportunities and a level playing field to the business and industrial community.

The efforts being made by the commission had led to not only improving the business climate to a certain extent, but also ensured that public was saved from unlawful profiteering, counterfeiting and sub-standard products, remarked the KCCI president. Appreciating some of the major actions taken by CCP, he particularly mentioned that CCP took notice of unusual rise in prices of edible oil in 2020 and initiated inquiry against 110 edible oil companies that helped in stabilizing prices of this essential household products.

Muhammad Idrees requested CCP chairperson to arrange an awareness seminar at KCCI, wherein a large number of businessmen, industrialists and small traders will be invited so that they could better understand the commission responsibilities and functions.

ISLAMABAD: The Karachi Chamber of Commerce & Industry (KCCI) held an advocacy session with the Competition Commission of Pakistan (CCP) where the representatives of the chamber apprised the CCP of different competition issues and sought its help in creating a level playing field and removing entry barriers in the different sectors.

From KCCI, the advocacy session was attended by President KCCI Muhammad Idrees, Vice President KCCI Qazi Zahid Hussain, KCCI Managing Committee Members, and from CCP by the Chairperson Ms. Rahat Kaunain Hassan, Member Mujtaba Ahmad Lodhi, and Director Generals Noman Laiq and Asfandyar Khattak.

While speaking on the occasion, Ms. Rahat Kaunain Hassan said that the CCP has imposed penalties of up to Rs70 billion for different violations of the Competition Act on various sectors. However, the recovery remains paltry due to the fact that most of the undertakings have challenged the CCP's orders in the higher courts where the due process of judicial review is underway. The real effectiveness of the CCP's orders will be felt once the judicial review process is complete, particularly in the cartel cases that call for prioritization for the harm it incurs to the economy, she added. The Chairperson further said that as an institution, the CCP is accountable for its mandate, but in the pending cases, the review process has to take its course.

Ms. Rahat Kaunain Hassan said that as against the general impression, the CCP is not a price regulator, but it only intervenes where the prices of goods and services are affected by anti-competitive practices such as abuse of dominance and cartelization. The main job of the CCP is to make sure that markets are functioning in compliance with the competition rules and regulations. She further said that the CCP is not against businesses; rather the Competition Law is pro-business and pro-growth, however, without strict enforcement of the law, a competition culture cannot prevail. She informed that as per OECD reports/estimates, prices can go down 25-30 percent if cartels are basted.

During the session, members of KCCI brought several issues and competition-related matters to the CCP's notice. The Chairperson offered that the CCP can change its regulations to exempt the Chambers of Commerce from charging of fee for filing formal complaints in endeavouring to address concern in resolving competition issues.

She informed that the informant reward scheme and leniency provisions are available which the business community can benefit from and help the CCP in identifying the anti-competitive issues. She assured the CCP's full support in resolving the competition issues and creating a level playing field.
