RECORDER REPORT

LAHORE: The Competition Commission of Pakistan (CCP) on Friday carried out a search and inspection of a sugar mill Head Office in Lahore, to impound proofs of the group's suspected involvement in anti-competitive activities in violation of the Competition Act, 2010.

As part of an ongoing enquiry into the possible anti-competitive activities in the sugar industry, the CCP on 14 September 2020 carried out a search and inspection of the Pakistan Sugar Mills Association's Lahore and Islamabad offices and impounded PSMA's record including the correspondence done through letters, emails, and whatsapp messages, between various members and office bearers of PSMA.

The impounded data included exchange of emails between a senior official of one of the Sugar Mill (Member of PSMA) and PSMA Punjab zone office bearers regarding sensitive commercial information such as mill-wise, district-wise sugar stock position, and even the quantity of cane crushed, sugar produced, > P 4 Col 4 recovery percentage, carry forward old/raw sugar, total sugar, quantity sold, balance and sold percentage.

Moreover, an analysis of the whatsapp messages exchanged in a group of PSMA officials, the same senior official of that Sugar Mill was found to be in constant communication with regard to price and stock related data of sugar mills.

The impounded data indicated the senior official's continued involvement in sharing/receiving sensitive information regarding sugar industry since 2012 when he was nominated as the focal person for coordinating the sugar stock position by PSMA.

The CCP suspects that the compilation, consolidation, and distribution of sensitive commercial information using the PSMA's platform could lead to possible proof/corroboration of collusive activity/cartelization that is in violation of the Competition Act. The search team has impounded the relevant print and electronic material from the above-mentioned Sugar Mill premises for further scrutiny.

Office of Tareen's mill raided, record seized

By Amjad Mahmood

LAHORE: A team of the Competition Commission of Pakistan (CCP) raided the head office of a sugar mill of the Pakistan Tehreek-i-Insaf (PTI)'s 'isolated' leader Jahangir Tareen and seized office record here on Friday.

The raid came a day after Mr Tareen, former secretary general of the ruing PTI disqualified by the Supreme Court in 2018 for misstatement in the court and not declaring his foreign property in election candidatures, submitted a written reply to Federal Investigation Agency (FIA)'s call-up notices regarding the sugar scam in which sugar barons jacked up prices by allegedly suspending or reducing supplies of the sweetener to the market.

A joint investigation team (JIT), led by FIA Director General Wajid Zia, had found the sugar millers guilty of misuse of public money and cartelisation leading to massive increase in sugar prices.

The CCP is also investigating the cartelisation by sugar millers and in this respect raided the headoffice of the Jamal Din Wali (JDW) Mills' headquarters in the Punjab capital and seized its record.

The authority had earlier inspected the record of Pakistan Sugar Mills Association (PSMA) offices both in the federal and Punjab capitals on Sept 14 and seized some hard copies and computer files of the record.

An official of the CCP said they found exchange of e-mails between the PSMA and a senior official of the JDW Mills which contained sensitive trade information such as sugar stock position on the mill and district level and even sugarcane crushing volume, sugar production, recovery ratio, past sugar production, sugar sales volume and its ratio.

The raid at the PSMA offices was followed by indications to anti-competitive activities of the association like collective stoppage of crushing in season 2019-20, collective hike in sugar prices and refusal to supply sugar to the Utility Stores Corporation.

Inspection of a WhatsApp group of the PSMA revealed that the same senior official of the JDW group was in the constant know of sugar prices and stock data, the CCP official said.

The records seized from the PSMA also showed that the same official had been appointed by the PSMA as a focal person in 2012 for the sugar stock position and was in the constant know of sensitive information about the sugar industry, the CCP official claimed.

He said the CCP feared that the involvement of the official in sharing sensitive information about sugar prices, quantities and stock positions raised concerns about the JDW group's involvement in anti-competitive activities in violation of the Competition Act.

The JDW group comprising five sugar mills with around 20 per cent share in sugar business is owned by Mr Tareen, who is presently "undergoing medical treatment in London", as per his reply to the FIA notice.

A close aide of Mr Tareen said that like the JIT and the FIA, the CCP was raising the same questions which the JDW group had 'comprehensively' responded to and that was why "no act of omission or wrong by the group has so far been brought forward by any agency".

A CCP official said: "It is suspected from the analysis of data impounded from the PSMA offices that the compilation, consolidation and distribution of sensitive commercial information was done using the PSMA's platform." This information could lead to possible proof and corroboration of collusive activity and cartelisation in the sugar industry, he added Cartelisation is violation of the Competition Act.

ISLAMABAD

To check the possibility of anti-competitive activities, the Competition Commission of Pakistan (CCP) on Friday "impounded proofs" in a raid on the JDW group's sugar mills head office.

The raid was conducted a day after disgruntled PTI leader Jehangir Tareen, whose family owns a majority share in the JDW group's sugar mills, submitted a detailed reply to the FIA in response to its queries regarding the sugar scam probe.

Tareen, who is currently in the United Kingdom (UK), had failed to appear before the FIA on Sept 19 after which the agency re-summoned him on Thursday.

The CCP did not officially name the JDW group but a commission official disclosed that the raid was conducted on the head office of the group.

The CCP carried out a search and inspection of a sugar mill head office in Lahore as part of an ongoing inquiry against the possible violations of the Competition Act, 2010 by the sugar industry, according to a statement issued by the antitrust watchdog. It added that Friday's raid was a continuation of the commission's SUGAR MILL, PAGE 6

The CCP said the impounded data included exchange of emails "between a senior official of one of the sugar mills (member of PSMA) and PSMA Punjab zone office-bearers regarding sensitive commercial information such as mill- and district-wise sugar stock position, and even the quantity of cane crushed, sugar produced, recovery percentage, carry forward old/raw sugar, total sugar, quantity sold, balance and sold percentage".

The CCP official said the person concerned was the employee of the JDW group.

The official hand-out further said that an analysis of the whatsapp messages, shared in a group of PSMA officials, showed that the same senior official of that sugar mill was found to be in constant communication with regard to price and stock-related data of sugar mills.

"The impounded data indicated the senior official's continued involvement in sharing, receiving sensitive information regarding the sugar industry since 2012 when he was nominated as the focal person for coordinating the sugar stock position by the PSMA," according to the CCP.

The CCP suspected that the compilation, consolidation, and distribution of sensitive commercial information using the PSMA platform could lead to possible proof/corroboration of collusive activity/cartelisation that is in violation of the Competition Act. The search team has impounded the relevant print and electronic material from the JDW sugar mill premises for further scrutiny,

Prime Minister Imran Khan
