Business Recorder

CCP approves internal restructuring of Nishat Chunian Group

The Competition Commission of Pakistan (CCP) has approved internal restructuring involving M/s Nishat Chunian Limited (NCL), M/s Nishat Chunian Power Limited (NCPL), M/s Nishat Mills Limited (NML), and the CEO of NCL, Shahzad Saleem. This internal restructuring, undertaken as part of the Scheme of Arrangement, aims to streamline the corporate structure of the Nishat Chunian Group.

The CCP's Phase-1 competition assessment has revealed the primary business activities of each undertaking involved in the transaction. Nishat Chunian Limited (NCL), a publicly listed company, engages in textile-related operations, including spinning, weaving, dyeing, fabric processing, and the generation and sale of electricity.

Nishat Chunian Power Limited (NCPL), a public listed company, specializes in building, owning, and operating fuel-fired power stations. It functions as an Independent Power Producer (IPP) and has a Power Purchase Agreement with the Central Power Purchasing Agency (Guarantee) Ltd (CPPA-G).

Similarly, Nishat Mills Limited (NML), another publicly listed company, focuses on textile manufacturing with activities spanning spinning, weaving, and the production of various fabrics, while also engaging in electricity generation.

In its assessment, the CCP has identified the relevant product markets as 'spinning, weaving, home textile, and thermal power generation- CPPA-G'. The restructuring will lead to a nominal increase in Shahzad's shareholding in NCL, while NML will experience a slight rise in its shareholding in NCPL.

Despite these changes, the CCP has confirmed that the transaction will not result in any market dominance by the merger parties.

CCP allows corporate restructuring of Nishat Chunian Group

CPP approves internal corporate restructuring of the Nishat Chunian Group, which also includes Nishat Chunian Limited (NCL), Nishat Chunian Power Limited (NCPL), Nishat Mills Limited (NML), and NCL's CEO Shahzad Saleem.

Resolving Part of Scheme of Arrangement

As part of Scheme of Arrangement, this restructuring is being envisaged for the group's corporate structure.

In the initial round of competition analysis, CCP considered each entity's core business activity. Nishat Chunian Limited, a public limited company, conducts a group of textile operations including spinning, weaving, dyeing, fabric processing, and generating and selling electricity.

Nishat Chunian Power Limited (NCPL) is listed in the public domain and is involved with the construction, ownership, and operation of fuel-fired power stations as an Independent Power Producer (IPP) through a Power Purchase Agreement with the Central Power Purchasing Agency (Guarantee) Ltd (CPPA-G).

Nishat Mills Limited (NML) deals in textile production, which includes spinning, weaving, and fabric, besides electricity generation.

The relevant product markets identified by CCP are 'spinning, weaving, home textiles, and thermal power generation (CPPA-G).'

There would be a slight increase in Shahzad Saleem's shareholding in NCL, whereas NML would witness a slight rise in the same stake in NCPL. According to CCP, the market dominance of the merging parties would not be witnessed.

CCP Approves Alfalah Asset Management's Acquisition of Management Rights from Faysal Asset Management, Ensuring Competitive Market Balance

The Competition Commission of Pakistan (CCP) has granted approval for the acquisition of management rights of certain funds of M/s. Faysal Asset Management Limited by M/s. Alfalah Asset Management Limited. This approval follows the execution of a Transfer of Management Rights Agreement between the two entities.

Alfalah Asset Management Limited, a public unlisted company, is a prominent Asset Management Company (AMC) and investment advisor. The company operates under a license issued by the Securities and Exchange Commission of Pakistan (SECP) in accordance with the Non-Banking Finance Companies (Establishment and Regulation) Rules, 2003.

Similarly, Faysal Asset Management Limited, also a public unlisted company, functions as an AMC and investment advisor under the regulatory framework of the SECP.

Under the terms of the Agreement, Alfalah Asset Management Limited will acquire the management rights of certain funds currently under the management of Faysal Asset Management Limited. The CCP, in its assessment, identified the relevant product market as 'Asset Management Services' and noted the horizontal nature of the transaction due to the overlap in operations between the two entities.

Following the completion of the transaction, the market share of Alfalah Asset Management Limited is anticipated to experience a slight increase, while the market share of Faysal Asset Management Limited will correspondingly decrease. Crucially, the CCP's analysis has determined that this acquisition will not lead to market dominance by Alfalah Asset Management Limited in the relevant market.

The CCP's approval underscores its commitment for maintaining a competitive landscape in the financial services sector while ensuring sustainable growth and financial innovation in the asset management industry.
